Justice Taylor, of the Police Court,
Bays it is rare that there is not some foreigner in his court. An interpreter is frequently needed for some person at the bar who cannot speak the American language. In such cases, if the trial is important, an interpreter must be found, but often the offense is of the simplest kind, and the Justice can fit the punishment without verbal assistance. There was such a case in that of Francisco Silvia, a Spanlard, this morning. He had been drunk, and there was the usual fine of $1 and costs. But the prisoner could not speak nor understand the words of the court till the Justice suggested "Peseta!" Before the prisoner could find the coin the sergeant, thinking the court wished another witness, called in the usual loud voice, "One Peseta." That hurried the prisoner with his money, but the sergeant was surprised that the witness did not appear, and at the smiles of the Justice and the renorders.

FUNERAL OF P. M. ARTHUR

Impressive Services Held at the Family Home in Cleveland.

One of the Cleveland papers of Friday gives the following account of the funeral there on Thursday of Chief Arthur: The funeral of P. M. Arthur, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, was held yesterday afternoon from the family residence, No. 1423 Euclid Avenue. The services were beautiful and impressive in the highest degree—beautiful in their simplicity and impressive because of the boundless love and the equally boundless sorrow with which they were marked. The funeral was not an extremely large one, considering the extraordinarily wide acquaintance of Mr. Arthur. Not more than four hundred persons, perhaps, were present. But of these four hundred every one was a mourner. There were tear-stained faces in plenty, and throughout the services stifled plenty, and throughout the services stifled

The funeral had been announced as private, but Mrs. Arthur extended an invitation to all members of the Brother-hood to be present, and all those whose duties would permit them gathered.
AT THE APPOINTED HOUR

AT THE APPOINTED HOUR
There were affecting scenes as these men passed into the darkened room and stood beside the flower-covered casket.
Many of the men were young, more were middle-aged, but the most of them were old, with silvered hair and bowed shoulders. These last it was who felt most keenly the burden of their loss. The sight of these aged men, standing with teardimmed eyes beside the casket of their chief, was infinitely touching.

thur's body lay was fairly crowded with masses of fragrant bloom. One piece represented a great white book. It lay open and on its pages was written in purple immortelles, "The Holy Bible Was His Guide and Strength." This came from the Brotherhood. There were a great number of other beautifu, pieces tron local organizations, and a spiendid offering of roses and pond illies, inscribed, "Canadian Brothers." Beside the floral piece there were wreaths of roses and verywhere clusters of orchids and banks of fragrant lilies.

Prompfly at 2 o'clock the services opened with singing of a hymn by a quartet from the Second resbyterian Church.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Vernon Harrington, and after hymns and Scripture reading Rev. Dr. Paul F. Sutphen, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, spoke. "We are here, my friends," said Dr. Sutphen, "not only to pay respect to one whom we all esteemed, but also to chronicle the fact that a great leader has reached the end of a noble career. The problem of this age is the effecting of an adjustment between the forces of labor and capital. To the solution of this problem Mr. Arthur devoted his life. While others formulated theories, he grappled with facts. The result of his labors is recognized by all the world to-day. Mr. Arthur devoted his life, while others formulated theories, he grappled with facts. The result of his labors is recognized by all the world to-day. Mr. Arthur devoted his negative and apostle of a better day he was. As we look at the eplendid success of the organization of which our friend was the chief, it is not hard for us to see that smid the ferment of the times the hand of God was forming a heroic character to carry on the work which was to be done. We behold in this friend of ours no ordinary man, but one who contained in his character the true elements of greatness. There were three remarkable personal character were three remarkable

"Lastly, I must here bear witness to the sweetness, the gentlemess, and the altogether sincerity of the walk which he had with God. There was little outward demonstration of his deep religious feeling, but no one who knew him ever question for a moment the real secret of his life work. Back to the splendid Scottish religious training which he received we must date the beginning of the great work which closed a few days ago.

"Those of us who have been left behind must not be entirely without hope or consolation. A life that has done its best to serve its fellow men, a life that has walked with God, does not even sleep in death. Our friend has entered from the small service of earth into the larger service of the kingdom of God."

After the singing of a hymn and the benediction, the casket was borne from the house by the men who had accompanied Mr. Arthur's remains on the long trip from Winnipeg. These were S. W. Village Lively Enough without the Aid of Borelly's Comet.

(Special to The Times-Dianatch.)

BON AIR, VA., July 25.—Bon Air was not long discovering Borelly's little old milk-sop of a comet but Bon Air did not go into conniption fits about it for there are many things in and about the village that are much more attractive than a pale-faced comet.

The full quota of summer visitors now make the village lively enough. All the boarding-houses are filled to their utmost capacity and many visitors for a day or two drop in as the days go by.

Among the lates arrivals are Mr. Richard H. Wills and wife, of Richmond, who are spending the summer at Mrs. Peploe's; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Warren, who are at Mrs. Cox's, and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Nicolal and two children, of Baltimore; Mr. John Burrall, of Richmond, Mrs. Earnest Chalkley, and Mrs. Winn, of Richmond, all of whom have rooms at the Le Noel.

A happy Bon Air party left this week to spend ten days at Virginia Beach. They were Miss Constance Bates, M'ss Margaret Sufton, Miss Rachel Crenshaw and Miss Nicolson, of Washington, who is the guest of Miss Bates. The party is chaperoned by Mrs. J. Harvey Blair, of

The Rev. Dr. I. S. McElroy, who has been supplying the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church, this summer, will move his family to Bon Air the list of August. They will board with Mr. J. H. Crenshaw.

Mrs. Allen Ferguson was called to Amelia county on Thursday on account of the serious illness of a near relative. The home and visiting juvent'es have organized a red, white and blue lantern brigade and with their lamps well tr'm-med, they may be seen parading the avenues of the village nearly every even-ing. They have caused their parents to "corner" the lantern market at a Broad-Street five-and-ten-cent store.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

TWYMAN'S MILL, VA., July 25.—Little progress is being made in locating the murderer of Mrs. Benjamin Lowery, who was murdered on or near the 2d of July. Suspicion points strongly to several persons, and although two detectives, with a number of citizens of the county, are at work on the case, no arrests have yet been made.

The dog tax is creating quite a sensation through here just at this time. From a failure to enter the tax with other taxes, an additional quarter for each one has been added for collecting. WARRENTON BOYS AT CLAY PIGEONS

This Sport Has Grown Very Popular There-An Entertainment.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WARRENTON, VA., July 25,-The faswartenation, va., only 25.—The las-cinating sport of shooting clay pigeons is being largely injulged in here. The young and old men of the town gather on Academy Hill each evening about sunset and for three hours after the air is filled with white smoke and the reports of numerous shot-guns. Many have become expert as the sport, and take keen pleasure in a laugh at the expense of the uninitiated, who waste charge after charge, sometimes in fruitless efforts to 'smash" the wary pigeons. It is thought nat a movement will shortly be placed on foot with a view to organizing a gun club, with regular days for meeting and pernapa prizes for the successful contestants. This would undoubtedly cause some close competition and prove a very interesting addition to every-day life here. Mr. Harman Will Respect the Party

Mr. Harman Will Respect the Party Declaration.

Hon. A. C. Harman, member of the House from Richmond city, who is a candidate for the Senate to fill the sear created by the new apportionment, said in discussing the matter yesterday, that he ware standing by the new primary method of nominating candidates for the United States Senate as promulgated by the Norfolk convention, and that if he should be chosen he would under all circumstances respect the verdict rendered under it. Mr. Harman thinks the plan will be preserved, and that it has the sentiment of the masses of the Democratic voters of the State behind it. It is likely that Mr. Harman will be the only candidate for the Senate from Richmond this fall, in which event he will be declared the party nominee by the City Democratic Committee.

Times-Dispatch in a special which I sent from this place, the following paragraph appears:

"The drys claim that there were many llegal votes cost for the wets, and that there was much irregularity; and the fact that all of the judges at the New Canton precinct were 'wet' men seems to strengthening their cause."

In order to avoid misapprehension, and to preclude the possibility of any one's reading between the lines what was not intended to be expressed there, I wish to state that, from the knowledge I have of the judges in question, I have no reason to believe that any one of themacist otherwise than conscientiously in the discharge of his duties on July lift, when the local option election was held. So far as I know, each of these three judges is a man of intelligence and character, and shall refuse to believe otherwise. As the until the contrary is proved, I for one, spite of this, the local option element here do claim that there was "much fregularity." And so confident are they that they are right, and that some votes may be thrown out, which were illegally cast, that they have employed counsel, and will contest the election at the next term of Buckingham court. And they claim also that their curse is strengthened by the fact that all three of the judges a New Cantom were acknowledged wer men.

fourteen miles south of here. The "Flyer" left here at 7:05 and an hour later, white running at a high rate of speed, ran into an open switch, which had undoubtedly been thrown for a siding, with the purpose of wrecking the train. The "Flyer" first struck two cars of stone and crashed them into a boarding car filled with railroad employes. Eight persons, all railroad employes. Eight persons, all railroad employes. The engine, two freight cars and a passenger coach were demolished. Fortunately, all passengers escaped injury, although they received a severe shaking up. There is no clue to the miscreants who misplaced the switch. The "Flyer" left here at 7:05 and an
